Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Florian Berg

for Best oral presentation on:

Growth trade-offs for spring- and autumn-hatched larvae; results from a long-term experiment

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan

Small Pelagic Fish: New Frontiers in Science and Sustainable Management
International Symposium | Lisbon, Portugal, November 7-11, 2022

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Miram R. Gleiber

for Best oral presentation on:

The pelagic species trait database, an open data resource to promote trait-based fisheries research

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean
Institute for Advanced Studies,
Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute
of Sea and Atmosphere,
Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands
Institute for Sea
Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific
Islands Fisheries
Science Center,
USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of
Tokyo, Japan

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Naseera Moosa

for Best oral presentation on:

Investigating the influence of 'minor' krill-predators (the leopard seal, Adelie penguin, marbled rockcod and mackerel icefish) on the krill-predator dynamics of the Antarctic ecosystem in the IWC (International Whaling Commission) Management Area II

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan

Small Pelagic Fish: New Frontiers in Science and Sustainable Management
International Symposium | Lisbon, Portugal, November 7-11, 2022

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Antonio Palermino

for Best oral presentation on:

Habitat suitability modelling and impact of environmental factors on the distribution of Sprattus sprattus in the Adriatic Sea

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan

Small Pelagic Fish: New Frontiers in Science and Sustainable Management
International Symposium | Lisbon, Portugal, November 7-11, 2022

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

James Robinson

for Best oral presentation on:

Small pelagic fish are the cheapest nutritious food caught in wild fisheries globally

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Pedro Fonseca

for Best poster presentation on:

Gastric evacuation rate of European sardine and Atlantic chub mackerel: The effects of different diets and the application of the results to predation estimates

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan

Small Pelagic Fish: New Frontiers in Science and Sustainable Management
International Symposium | Lisbon, Portugal, November 7-11, 2022

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Kim P. Nuñez

for Best poster presentation on:

Monitoring catch and effort and linking fleet movement of sardine fishery in Fisheries Management Area (FMA) 7, Philippines

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan

Small Pelagic Fish: New Frontiers in Science and Sustainable Management
International Symposium | Lisbon, Portugal, November 7-11, 2022

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Jazel Ouled-Cheikh

for Best poster presentation on:

Trophic importance of small pelagic fish to marine predators of the Mediterranean Sea

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean
Institute for Advanced Studies,
Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute
of Sea and Atmosphere,
Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands
Institute for Sea
Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific
Islands Fisheries
Science Center,
USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of
Tokyo, Japan

Small Pelagic Fish: New Frontiers in Science and Sustainable Management
International Symposium | Lisbon, Portugal, November 7-11, 2022

Certificate of Recognition

Presented to:

Francisco Plaza

for Best poster presentation on:

Deep learning and surplus production models for multivariate autoregressive modelling and simulation of the jack mackerel fishery associated with environmental conditions

Symposium Convenors:

Ignacio Catalán
Mediterranean Institute for Advanced Studies, Spain

Susana Garrido
Portuguese Institute of Sea and Atmosphere, Portugal

Myron Peck
Royal Netherlands Institute for Sea Research, The Netherlands

Ryan Rykaczewski
NOAA Pacific Islands Fisheries Science Center, USA

Akinori Takasuka
University of Tokyo, Japan